The American Iranian Council (AIC) was incorporated in the State of New Jersey in 1997 as a [501 C (3)] non-profit and non-partisan educational organization to provide for research, policy analysis, public education, and community mobilization. The Council is tax exempt and accepts no money from any government, including the governments of Iran and the United States. Our funding sources include American and Iranian-American corporations, foundations, and individuals. Because of its tax-deductible nature, AIC's financial records are open to public inspection and they are publically available. Current regulations prohibit AIC from accepting any contributions from individuals who maintain only Iranian citizenship.
